Company Description

We are carrying out R&D business through our own technology development. Based on the latest trends, we are conducting continuous research and development by analyzing technology in advance and considering ways to advance it.

ProductIMS Server (iMessage Mass Send Server) / IMS Desktop (iMessage Mass Send Desktop)

Function and Usage : This is a server that sends business messages based on iMessage. Through various research and development processes, we developed our own corporate message transmission method that can reduce the unit cost of existing corporate messaging by 1/10, and at the same time, we completed a patent application for a distributed processing system for mass business Messaging

Marketing and Selling Points : If you purchase and send our system (computer), you can send up to 500,000 advertising messages per day to your iPhone. This has the effect of significantly reducing marketing costs. And if you purchase our computers in bulk, you can send out more messages.

And we systematically manage malicious messages, caller IDs, etc. for the computer through our own monitoring team, while also providing solutions to send various "Rich Contents Messages."

We support fallback when delivery is not possible and help ensure that corporate messages are delivered to users. (Sending costs such as SMS are charged separately)
